OCTOGENARIANS DRINK ANCIENT VINTAGES

COMBINED AGES OF VENERABLE DINERS TOTALS 663 YEARS. ALL WELL KNOWN IN SOUTH-LAND—MENU CHARACTERISTIC OF PIONEER DAYS

RIVERSIDE, April 3.—Ethan A. Chase, the veteran orange grower, was host yesterday at a notable dinner served in the court dining-room of the Glenwood Mission Inn. Eight octogenarians gathered about the old-fashioned dining-room table, over which was spread a "turkey-red" tablecloth. The table service included ancient vintage and the decorations were confined to old-fashioned flowers.

The combined ages of the eight men, who are all in excellent health, total 663 years. The roster includes men well known throughout Southern California.

The hotel guests took a keen interest in the dinner whose menu was also characteristic of pioneer days. Seated at the table were E. A. Chase, J. H. Reed, George Frost and J. Q. Perley, aged 82; Randolph Hersey and H. M. Streeter, aged 85; A. J. Twogood, aged 84, and C. M. Loring, aged 81.

CHARGES THAT MERIT SYSTEM LOOKED ON AS JOKE

CONGRESSMAN CHARGES WILSON AND BRYAN MADE APPOINTMENTS WITHOUT REGARD TO FITNESS OF MEN IN DIPLOMATIC AND CONSULAR SERVICE

WASHINGTON, April 3.—President Wilson and Secretary Bryan were assailed in the House yesterday, by Representative Rogers, Republican, of Massachusetts, with charges that they had disregarded the merit system of appointment in the diplomatic and consular service.

Rogers reviewed appointments to Latin-American countries, submitted biographical sketches of the men displaced, and the new officials, and said that in virtually every case appointments were made without regard to fitness of candidates for their posts. He also described contributions of various members of the diplomatic corps to the President's campaign fund.

CONFERENCE ON MEXICAN SITUATION

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 3.—Scientists, public officials, army and navy officers and leaders in the world of industry and finance gathered here in force today for the opening of the annual conference of the American Academy of Political and Social Science. The conference, which will continue two days, promises to attract more than ordinary attention because of the fact that the Mexican situation and the present status of the Monroe doctrine are scheduled as the principal topics of discussion.

Among the persons of prominence who are on the program for papers or addresses are Congressman James L. Slayden of Texas, Rear Admiral Richard Wainwright, U. S. N., Rear Admiral F. E. Chadwick, U. S. N., Prof. L. S. Rowe of the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard University, Prof. B. C. Stowell of Columbia University, A. Maurice Low of Washington, D. C., and W. Morgan Shuster, former financial adviser to the Persian government.

OVERTIME PENALTY FOR CHICAGO POLICE WHO VIOLATES RULES

CHICAGO, April 3.—Policemen who violate minor rules of the Chicago police department will have to "stay after school"—work overtime without pay—it is announced by Chief of Police James Gleason.

"Instead of fining the offender 15 or 20 days' pay," the chief said, "he will be made to work overtime without extra pay. Fining a policeman really punishes his wife and family more than it does him. By the new system his family will have just as much money and the rule-breaker will have more work."

PIED THE FRONT PAGE

An unfortunate accident—the most unfortunate that can happen in a print shop—occurred just as the Register was going to press at 3:30 this afternoon. As the forms were going down the lift to the press room, the front page was pied. Nothing could be saved from the wreck, and it is through the courtesy of the Blade that this paper is able to appear at a reasonable hour. The Register asks the indulgence of its readers for the unavoidable delay occasioned by this untoward incident.

OVER A CAR OF STRAWBERRY BASKETS

As has been the case in the past three or four seasons the Santa Ana Produce Company will sell, this year, to the Orange County Berry Growers' Association, of El Modena, all the three-quarter size berry baskets needed by the association. The local company has ordered over a carload of the baskets, 450,000 in all. They are to be shipped direct from the factory to El Modena.

The Berry Growers' Association is composed of five Japanese, who will have, this year, 75 acres of berries. Orange county and San Diego will get practically the entire product of the El Modena strawberry fields. The greater part of the crop will be sold in this county and what surplus there is will be disposed of at San Diego. A small portion of the berries is shipped to Pomona and Corona.

Strawberries grown in the foothill section near El Modena have a splendid reputation for size and flavor, not alone among Orange county consumers but among those of San Diego as well.

There are a great many of the early Klondike varieties being brought in to the local dealers. The berries are bringing the growers from $1.50 to $2.00 per crate. Berries will be plentiful as soon as the weather grows warmer.

The Santa Ana Produce Company will have about 200,000 strawberry baskets for distribution to the small local growers not in the association. The company will also distribute in the neighborhood of 200,000 raspberry baskets during this season.

FLOOD PROTECTION COMMITTEE MAKES PLANS

STEPS TO BE IMMEDIATELY TAKEN TO SAFEGUARD RIVER BANKS, AND TO FORM PROTECTION DISTRICT

ANAHEIM, April 3.—A special meeting was held yesterday evening at the Anaheim National Bank by members of the River Protection Committee, comprising F. C. Krause, chairman; M. W. Wellman, E. N. Cook, E. A. Day and G. Bruns, for the purpose of formulating plans for the campaign. Steps will be taken immediately toward safeguarding the adjacent territory to the Santa Ana river, and a protection district of defined boundaries will be formed. Prominent citizens of Anaheim and neighboring cities have announced their willingness to assist in such a district, the purpose of which will be to raise one-half of the funds necessary for adequate protection. The county will appropriate the remaining portion. The successful conclusion of the matter is an assured thing at a much lesser cost than at first anticipated.

HONOR COURT EXPELS
TEN STUDENTS FROM CHICAGO UNIVERSITY

CHICAGO, April 3. Ten students at the University of Chicago have been expelled from the University for dishonesty in the quarterly examination for the winter term, it was announced today. The students, whose names were not announced, were tried by a jury of their fellow pupils—the "student honor court," a recently elected body. This is the first action by the honor court.

Buffalo Derail
Passenger Train in Java
PATAVIA, Java, April 3.—Twenty natives were killed and fifty others injured yesterday by the derailment of a train while it was crossing a bridge near this city. The accident was caused by a herd of buffalo, into which the locomotive ran.

THE WEATHER

Cloudy and unsettled weather tonight and Saturday; westerly winds.

CHINESE WOMAN KILLS HUSBAND WITH HATCHET

SUNDAY SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT ATTACKS WIFE, SO SHE SAYS, AND IS KILLED BY HER—MADE A VOLUNTARY CONFESSION

ST. LOUIS, April 3.—Mrs. Quont Ho Yee, a Chinese, voluntarily confessed to the police yesterday that she had killed her husband, who, she said, was assistant superintendent of a Sunday School attended by white persons.

Although Yee was killed Wednesday, two blocks from police headquarters, neither the police nor any resident of the Chinese quarter knew anything of the affair until Mrs. Yee sent the police to her home.

Mrs. Yee said she and her husband quarreled concerning a white woman from whom Yee had received a letter. Her husband attacked her with a hatchet, she said, but she took it away from him and killed him.

Yee was recognized as one of the wealthiest and most influential men in the local Chinatown. He had been in St. Louis forty years and for many years acted as official court interpreter. He was 60 years old and his wife is 42. Mrs. Yee was held by the police pending the coroner's inquest.

HOPE FOR STEAMER HAS FINALLY BEEN GIVEN UP

SEALER SOUTHERN CROSS NOW BELIEVED TO HAVE FOUND—IN THE GREAT BLIZZARD—BELLA VENTURE BRINGS IN DEAD AND SURVIVORS

ST. JOHNS, April 3.—All hope for the safety of the sealer, Southern Cross, has practically been abandoned. The belief is she foundered in the blizzard off Cape Race last Tuesday, with her crew of 170.

The Bella Venture, with seventy dead of the sealer Newfoundland, was blocked in an ice pack for thirty-six hours. The survivors of the ill-fated Newfoundland are all aboard the Bella Venture.

The captain of the Bella Venture wireless a message indicating that while the crushed Newfoundland was still upheld by ice, of the total crew of 139, 112 were saved.

MARTIN'S BIPLANE DESTROYED BY EXPLOSION

BOMB TO BE USED IN BATTLE OF THE CLOUDS EXPLODES PREMATURELY, RUINING MACHINE—NO ONE INJURED—SECURED ANOTHER IMMEDIATELY

POMONA, April 3.—A premature explosion at the Pomona Speedway site late yesterday afternoon completely destroyed a biplane in which Aviator Glenn Martin was about to sail aloft and explode one of the electric bombs to be used in today's battle of the clouds for the advance benefit of a moving-picture company.

Martin was about ready for the flight when he left his machine to get his gloves, and the bomb, without warning, exploded. It plowed a cavernous hole in the ground, but luckily no persons near the scene were injured and the movie operator secured a film depicting a real explosion. It seemed almost to have been planned, it was so realistic.

Martin went at once to Los Angeles and was back by midnight with another biplane to replace the one destroyed.

Handicap races, attempts at breaking altitude and speed records and a series of special thrilling stunts by the airmen are scheduled for the meet. The program will be repeated on Saturday.

Heyse, Noble Prize Winner, Dead at Bavaria

MUNICH, Bavaria, April 3.—Paul Johann Ludwig von Heyse, German poet and novelist, died here yesterday in his 85th year. He was awarded the Nobel prize for literature in 1910.

RAILWAY BUILDING WORK FOR MANY UNEMPLOYED

CONSTRUCTION LABOR WILL GIVE THOUSANDS EMPLOYMENT IF THEY WANT TO WORK—WILL HIRE ALL—MILLIONS TO BE SPENT

PORTLAND, ORE., April 3.—Railroad construction at work in various parts of the northwest now under contract by Guthrie, McDougall and Co., of Portland, will call for the employment within the next three weeks of thousands of men and will necessitate the expenditure of many millions of dollars.

Although none of this work is to be done in the immediate vicinity of Portland, but most of it in British Columbia and State of Washington, the work is directed from the Portland office and the construction camps are outfitted and most of the supplies are purchased here.

Kettle Valley Line

The principal project now under contract by this company is the construction of the Kettle Valley Railroad in Southern British Columbia. While this road is to be only thirty-five miles long, it must be built through a rough, mountainous country and will require a heavy force of men.

Will Employ All Men

"We will employ all the men we can get," said Natt McDougall, head of the company. "While we doubtless will be able to get men right on the ground, we will take them from Portland if they have any means of getting to the camps. We cannot furnish them with transportation."

REGULATIONS WILL PROTECT ALASKA
MOOSE

NEW RULES JUST ADOPTED WILL PROHIBIT THE SHOOTING OF MOOSE AND MOUNTAIN SHEEP BY THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Alaska's big game, which yearly furnishes excellent sport for wealthy hunters from all over the world, is to receive protection in the future, as the result of new regulations made public yesterday by the Department of Agriculture.

Effective immediately and for a period of two years, the shooting of moose in Southeastern Alaska and of mountain sheep in the eastern part of Kenai Peninsula, is prohibited. The area thus closed, to moose hunters lies south and east of Lynn Canal, and on the Kenai Peninsula sheep are protected east of longitude 150 deg. Districts affected by the new regulations are among the most readily accessible to sportsmen.

Hitherto Alaskan game has been protected only by a closed season and the system of fees for shooting and shipping licenses. The Alaskan moose head is regarded as the finest trophy of the kind in the world.

BOXER DIES AFTER TEN-ROUND BOUT

ATLANTA, April 3.—James Grant, the bantam weight boxer, who collapsed after fighting ten rounds with Johnny Eggers last Tuesday night, died today. His physicians said there was no sign of any injury, and that pneumonia had caused the death of the boxer.

GREEN, WHO KILLED BANK
CASHIER, IS HANGED

SAN QUENTIN, April 3.—"Thomas Green," the motion picture bandit, who killed Cashier William Bowles, when he robbed the bank of Blythe, was hanged today.

Green was not his true name. He refused to reveal his identity. He fully exonerated his partner in crime, Paul Case, who was arrested with him.

VICTORY FOR GEN. VILLA;
TORREON IN HANDS OF REBELS AFTER BATTLE

House to House Fighting Finally Drives Federals in Flight—Reinforcements Scattered and Sent Back Along the Road—Mexican Embassy Still Claims Federal Victory and Big Monetary Loan

TORREON, April 3.—This city, ply of frioles, has since become the scene of a battle, after the six days of battle, was occupied by the rebels last night, right on the heels of the fleeing federals. The victory gives the constitutionalists control of the northern tier of Mexican States. In all the fighting no foreigner was killed, but the losses of the combatants on both sides were very heavy. Villa estimates his own losses at five hundred killed, and fifteen hundred wounded. The federal loss is one thousand killed and twenty-five hundred wounded.

The fighting began in Torreon proper last Friday and since then, up to last night, was almost continuous. At first Villa attempted assaults on the strong federal positions in daylight, but this was too costly, so the days were spent in cannonading and the nights in assaults. There were ten thousand fighters on each side. The federals had fortified the hills with rifle pits and trenches with barbed wire entanglements. The nature of the ground rendered it very difficult to succor the wounded. Many died of thirst where they fell.

The fiercest of all the fighting was in the hills south of Torreon. It raged also in great fury along Canyon De Huarache, where the federals made their last desperate stand, and from whence they finally fled.

Twice the rebels took these hills, only to be driven back. Drawing in to the city the rebels fought from house to house drawing their lines tighter and tighter, until the federals broke and ran. Gen. Huerta reported that he had met and defeated the federal reinforcements sent from Monterey, sending them flying back along the road.

This victory at Torreon makes certain the fall of Saltillo, Mencion and Monterrey, the key to the State of Nuevo Leon. It places Mazatlan also in a precarious position.

This is the work of the man who a little more than a year ago made a start out from a little village near Juarez with two companions. He borrowed six horses and seven dollars in money, and with a meager supply of food and ammunition, he began his campaign.

DRINK CAUSES MAN'S ARREST ON CHARGE
BURGLARY

LOS ANGELES, April 3.—One drink too many brought about the arrest of Ham Schermer, a young German, at Fifth and San Pedro streets early today on charges of entering a saloon on North Spring street, and stealing seven bottles of whiskey and seven boxes of cigars.

Schermer was making his way unsteadily along the street when he attracted the attention of Patrolman Cherry. The patrolman walked forward to investigate and just as he reached Schermer, the latter gave a lurch and fell to the sidewalk. The force of the fall broke the boxes and bottles.

The accused said he went to sleep in the rear of the saloon, awoke after it had been closed and then helped himself to what he could carry.

ANTI-SALOON DAILY FOR WASHINGTON, D. C., SOON

SPOKANE, April 3.—Dr. Howard A. Russell, founder and general manager of the Anti-Saloon League, has announced here that a national prohibition daily newspaper would be established in Washington, D. C., in the near future. Capital of $125,000 has been assured, said Dr. Russell, and a plant has been obtained.

COMMANDING OFFICER OF COLLIER JUPITER REPORTS BRAVERY OF MEN AT MARE ISLAND NAVY YARD—RISKED LIVES TO SAVE SHIPMATES

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Readiness of officers and enlisted men of the navy to risk their own lives to save their shipmates is illustrated in a report to the Navy Department from the commanding officer of the collier Jupiter made public yesterday.

Ordinary Seamen Curtis, Fritz, Anding, Ferguson, Stanley, Sales and Simpson and Carpenter Kempton, Boatswain's Mate Leiger and Boatswain Shaw are commended for their actions March 16, when several men were overcome by gases in No. 12 hold of the Jupiter at Mare Island navy yard. Fritz, Anding, Leiger, Mementon and Curtis were overcome in endeavoring to rescue each other and finally were rescued by the other shipmates mentioned.

NEW ORLEANS PAPERS
JOIN FORCES AND MERGE

NEW ORLEANS, April 3.—The Times-Democrat and the Picayune, two of the oldest morning papers in the United States, will be consolidated, according to announcement here last night. When the merger will be made was not stated. The consolidated papers will be published as the Times-Picayune.

The Picayune has been published continuously for seventy-eight years. It has been in the hands of the Nicholson family for almost a half-century. Until three years ago Thomas C. Rappier, a director of the Associated Press, was active manager of the publication.

WITHOUT CLOTHES YET
START FOR POLICE STATION

LOS ANGELES, April 3.—With nothing more wrapped about them than the crisp air that is supposed to protect "September Morn" from rude gaze, M. B. Goetz, son of H. K. Goetz, police commissioner at Santa Monica, and E. C. Young of Placentia started down the stairs of the rooming house at 314 North Main street, with the intention of going to the police station to report their clothing stolen while they slept.

The landlord gasped in amazement and then barred their progress. "Where are your clothes?" he gasped.

"They were stolen while we were asleep," said the pair in chorus. "Lend us something to wear until we can get an outfit."

The landlord said that he would be unable to do so.

"Then we go to the station like we are," they replied. The rooming house proprietor quickly found an assortment of cast-off wearing apparel and the young men made their way to central station.

Each man lost a suit of clothes and a small sum of money. The room was entered by means of a passkey, but the officers were unable to find any clew as to the identity of the thieves.

WEYERHAEUSER SHOWS MARKED IMPROVEMENT

PASADENA, April 3.—Apparently well on his way towards sure recovery, Frederick W. Weyerhaeuser today is reported, from his home in Oak Knoll, to be resting easier and to be in better condition than at any other time during the long illness which has held him practically at death's door.

LE TWISTS, AUTO STOPS, LOW SPEED PREVENTED DEATH

E. Hardy Can Congratulate Himself that He Was Not Breaking the Law

Right out on the paved street at a speed too low to call speed, an automobile met with an accident this morning. The accident occurred at the corner of Sixth and Broadway. E. E. Hardy of South Flower street was preparing to make a turn off Broadway on to Sixth. Hardy was driving a small automobile that he has been using for the last eight months. Hardy was driving along on a recent trip to Yosemite. At least, he was not dreaming of that trip, it was our mistake. The machine was going a few miles an hour when Hardy slowed down to about six miles to make an easy, careful turn so that a heap of sacked potatoes would not roll off from the rear of the automobile. Suddenly Hardy felt the machine swerving to the left. He jerked the wheel and the automobile made a quick turn to the left and came to a stop in the middle of the street. It was a freak accident. The front wheel at a point of ten inches from the wheel had twisted a quarter of the way around and bent so that the wheel was flat on the pavement. The wheel was not broken. Had Hardy been driving a little faster the machine would undoubtedly have turned over on him. If he had been going as fast as some machines are in the habit of going on North Broadway, it would have rolled the driver conveniently into the undertaking parlors on the opposite corner.

MOTHER! THE CHILD IS COSTIVE, BILIOUS

If Tongue is Coated, Breath Bad, Stomach Sour, Don't Hesitate!

Give "California Syrup of Figs" at once—a teaspoonful today often saves a sick child tomorrow.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated, indigestible food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!—Advertisement.

Tustin Budget

Edited by Miss Florence Stone

EDITORIAL

PROSPERITY IS IN SIGHT IN TUSTIN

District in "Bud and Blossom Time" With Promise of Rich Fruition of Hopes

A typical ranch of the Tustin region is that of Mr. L. A. Cock, and a description of what is going on there is a fair example of what is being done around us. On this place a large number of orange trees have just been taken out and replaced with new, thrifty stock. Between three and four thousand little walnut trees have been grafted. The orange trees so well cared for are now laden with blooms. The golden fruit of the Valencia is not yet taken off, but the trees loaded with blossoms nevertheless. Hundreds of chickens just from the incubator are being cared for and in the last two or three weeks many trips have been made to the bee ranch out on the foothills.

It can surely be said in this district that just now is the "bud-and-blossom time of promise," and that plowing, planting, grafting and budding are "the strivings that look forward to the sure harvest of hopes."

The apricot orchards around Tustin that were a week or two ago white with blossoms like a snow storm in spring are now full of half-sized fruit. You can almost see the leaves shooting out of the walnut trees.

The glorious rain has blessed Tustin again and the beans and beets are assured of fine crops for perhaps two years to come.

Los Angeles was flooded for five days in the last half of February. The city went through a similar experience in January, yet a week after the second inundation, two hundred thousand people attended the Vanderbilt and the Grand Prix races at Santa Monica. The gate receipts and sales of grand stand tickets exceeded the record of the year previous on the famous speedway. Apparently, Los Angeles and surrounding country were not vitally injured by the high water. But Tustin has had no such test of pluck. The floods passed this section by lightly, as did the frost over a year ago.

Surely this has been a favored region.

Some School Notes

Pictures were taken last Wednesday of all the pupils in each grade with the teacher.

Pupils may obtain pictures of their grades on postal cards, by applying to the teacher, for the sum of ten cents.

Miss Lida Turner is back at school again after a week's illness.

School closes Friday afternoon for a week of spring vacation.

Miss Johnson will visit friends in Los Angeles next week.

Miss Ethel Doherty will spend next week with her grandmother in Los Angeles.

School Plans Unsettled

A meeting of the school trustees and the advisory committee was held last Monday night at the Tustin Bank, but there can be no definite report made at this time regarding the plans for the new schoolhouse. However, all hands are getting down to business and something will be settled soon.

A meeting of the trustees and the committee is called for Saturday night.

W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held Thursday afternoon of next week with Mrs. C. A. Miller. Delegates will be chosen to attend the county convention to be held in Santa Ana April 21 and 22.

The McTaggart's Heard From

Mr. and Mrs. Neil McTaggart, who are on their trip around the world, have just been heard from in Japan. They had taken their first ride in a rickshaw on the date of writing. Their trip is to celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, and the date came while they were on shipboard before reaching Japan. The fellow passengers found it out and gave them a wedding dinner. A special feature of the dinner was a large wedding cake on which were their names and the date of their marriage.

Home Folks Surprised

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Freeman (Mrs. Freeman formerly Miss Alice Phinney) surprised the folks at home by walking in Wednesday morning, and they will spend a week in town. Mr. Freeman is agent and warehouseman for the Southern Pacific railroad at Heber, Imperial Valley. They are taking a little vacation previous to a rush of business expected later on. The S. P. is expecting to ship about 1100 carloads of cantaloupes in about two months, beginning the first of May.

Literature Section

The next meeting of the Tustin Literature Section will be held on Tuesday afternoon of next week with Mrs. D. L. McCharles.

WHAT WE NEED IN TUSTIN

We need a handsome driveway. Irvine Boulevard, for instance, could be made spacious in width, paved like the best city streets, lined with handsome trees, palms and semi-tropical shrubs that do so wonderfully well in Orange county and made one of the most beautiful drives in the world. It could be made a park driveway in every sense of the word, so that people would come from all over the state to see it.

At the end of the driveway fifty or more acres could be set aside for making a spot the most beautiful in all the Southland, the one point of interest which no tourist could ever miss.

Where on earth could a fairer place be found upon which to make this thing of beauty, representing a high ideal, perpetuating the name of him who did it and very materially enhancing the value of all holdings in Orange county?

Rodlands has its Smiley Heights, Pasadena its Busch Gardens. Why couldn't we have "Irvine Park" and driveway?

TUSTIN PERSONALS

Supervisor Leck has just returned from a trip over the Seivers Canyon road to Capistrano for the purpose of inspecting the condition of the road since the washout.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Poole and daughter, Miss Grace Poole, of San Bernardino, and Miss Rosalind Peake spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fuller. The same party continued their trip to El Centro by automobile to visit a brother, and on to San Diego before returning to San Bernardino.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Stanley motored to Long Beach Thursday and returned the same day.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bowman went to Los Angeles Thursday.

D. M. Johnson has gone for a trip and a short vacation at Ellison Springs.

Mrs. B. F. Nimmo, who has been ill for several days, was taken to Santa Ana Hospital Tuesday, and is reported as much improved at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cock are now settled in their ranch home on Bryan street and are delighted with the prospects of a successful fruit year. Mr. and Mrs. H. Banfield of Los Angeles, have returned home after a three days' visit to Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cock.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Norton and Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford will go by automobile to Los Angeles for the week-end. They will visit Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Taylor.

Coreopsis Club

The regular meeting of the Coreopsis Club was held Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Roy Runnels. There was a good attendance of the members of the club and four new ones were taken in. They were Mesdames Ida King, L. Wilson, Matthews and Deaver. The others present were Mesdames S. M. Hart, J. D. Howes, Ed Smith, E. L. Mount, Fenlon Matthews, T. McDonald, Mrs. Cummings and Mrs. Deaver and Miss Jennie McDonald.

The house was beautified with calla lilies and roses and refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. H. K. Reid in Santa Ana.

IMPROVEMENTS IN AND ABOUT TUSTIN

Lumber Company Hustling to Meet Demand—New Homes Are Going Up

Improvements around Tustin are still going on. The success of the Tustin Lumber company is an indication of the demand for lumber. The company has just completed a fine new office with all modern conveniences and equipment. The latest addition to its plant, however, is that it has leased a small piece of land from Mr. Tustin just west of the new office for the erection of a new mill and some additional pieces of machinery, in order to bring the equipment up a little nearer to what is needed.

W. L. Leiby's new house is rapidly growing. The floors are laid, the framework is up, the chimney of white tiling and the porch pillars and trimmings are of the same.

The plans for the new home of Jasper Leck, to be built on the next lot to Mr. Leiby's, are in the hands of the architect and the house will be built shortly.

On the next lot to the last one, Guy Bolyard has completed a pretty garage and is looking forward to the erection of a bungalow home in the near future.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS

Birthday Party

The pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of the Tustin school gave their principal, Mr. Langworthy, a complete surprise last Monday upon the occasion of his birthday.

It was secretly planned on the Friday previous, to be given on the lawn, but as Monday was a wet day, the primary room was chosen as the next best place. On Monday morning a generous table was spread with good things. In the center was a large, delicious looking birthday cake with Mr. Langworthy's initials, "March 30, 1914," and sixteen candles on it. This cake proved to be as delicious as it looked and was baked by Miss Nina Eells, one of the eighth-grade pupils. The table was strewn with flowers. The girls gave the cakes and the boys the fruits. The teachers were all invited. The occasion was an exceedingly pleasant one to all concerned and Mr. Langworthy was highly appreciative.

Annual Supper

Next Tuesday night will be an important date for all the members of the Presbyterian Church.

A report of all the activities of the church for the year will be given, at which time it is the custom of the Ladies' Aid Society to prepare a supper to which all the members of the church are invited.

After the business of hearing reports and action on the same is over, a spirit of sociability will prevail. These occasions in the past have always been very enjoyable.

Friends' Club

The members of the Friends' Club, also called "The Jolly Crowd," held one of their occasional meetings last Friday evening with Mrs. Fred Preble.

These meetings are not held with any great regularity, but when the spirit moves, a meeting is called. This was a chicken pie dinner to which each couple contributed. The children were served first and sent to play. Then the table was rearranged for the jolly crowd. The place cards were caricatures on egg shells, the men's faces with collars, ties and hats, the women's with bonnets. Mrs. Martha Martin was the artist in this case. The table decorations were red roses. After supper the remainder of the evening was delightfully spent with music and conversation.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Eells, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Sharp, Mrs. A. D. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ebel, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Willard, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Martin, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Preble and Mesdames Young, Slusser and Martin.

Berean Bible Class

The regular monthly business meeting of the Berean Bible Class of the Presbyterian Church was held at the home of Mrs. L. A. Cock Wednesday afternoon. This meeting was a delightful combination of business and pleasure. The spacious rooms of Mrs. Cock's home were decorated in red and white geraniums and roses, these being the class colors. The motto of the class, "We do things," was arranged by the hostess in full view.

The meeting place was far enough out for a pleasant drive and those who had automobiles gathered up those who had not, altogether numbering about twenty-five, the interest in the class and the hospitable hostess was evident.

The meeting opened with the new president, Mrs. Frank Logan, in the chair. The devotional exercises were led by Mrs. John Dryer. Rev. E. W. Blew led in prayer.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, who also read a review of the work of the class for the year.

In the report of the work of the Home Department an increase was shown in interest and membership. Mrs. C. P. Marshall and Mrs. Chas. Eells were reappointed superintendents of the Home Department.

This was followed by the treasurer's report, the payment of dues, the reading of the constitution, the appointment of the social work committee and the membership committee.

Regarding a special matter in which the class desired to show its interest and sympathy to one of its members, Miss Bentley, Miss Drake and Miss Stone were appointed as a committee to arrange the details.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in delightful social intercourse, the hostess being assisted by Mrs. A.

Back of the Label—What?

DOES the label on your suit stand for hit-or-miss tailoring?

Holderman, G. W. Pollard, Jno. Dryer, W. L. Leiby, Whitehead, Hollis Lindsey, S. E. Tingley, W. H. Whitney, Fred Preble, Slusser, H. R. Smith, Sarah Moores, A. Noe, Taylor, Thos. Crawford, Emma Colgan, Geo. Hatfield, Misses Bentley, Drake and Stone, and the hostess, Mrs. L. A. Cock.

The secretary was instructed by the class to send a letter of sympathy to Mrs. Ellison in her bereavement in the death of her little girl.

Birthday Surprise

Mrs. D. M. Johnson was surprised Thursday afternoon by her friends on the occasion of her birthday. The afternoon was delightfully spent at her ranch home by Mesdames H. A. Cooper, Lizzie Cooper, A. D. Turner, Albert Wice, C. B. Cooper, Blackberry punch, with three kinds of cakes and fresh fruits, was served.

Philathea S. S. Class

The Philathea Sunday School Class held a business and social meeting with the teacher, Mrs. S. E. Tingley. The business of the class was attended to and a general good time was enjoyed. Those present were Mrs. Geo. Prather, Jr., and Misses Avis Smith, Gertrude Lambert, Ella Awe, Emma Thorman, Grace Hatfield, Anna Carson, Ruth Rawlings, Edna Richie and Margaret Tingley.

A unique social affair was given by Mrs. D. P. Walters of Fairhaven street on Thursday of this week. Mr. and Mrs. Walters have sold their place and are on the eve of departure for Marysville in the northern part of the state. In order to gather together her old friends and neighbors once more before going away, Mrs. Walters gave an all-day quilting Thursday.

The number of invited guests was twenty-one. On a new quilt she requested each friend to embroider her name and the quilt will be kept as a souvenir of the occasion.

At 1 o'clock a delicious chicken dinner was ready with everything good to go with it. Nineteen sat down to dinner, two guests coming in the afternoon. The decorations were roses and poinsettias, the place cards were tiny easter cards, and the napkins were ornamented with bunnies and little chicks.

Those present were Mesdames J. Fischen, E. Gray, Geo. Jamar, John Dryer, Byron Johnson, A. Partridge, A. Robinson, H. Rudolph, W. A. Ralph, C. A. St. Arnold, Elwin Stearns, Roland Stearns, Wm. Stearns, H. Wiseman, Beaton Day, Flood, Frazen, Harwood, Heiser and Miss Hoffman, besides the hostess, Mrs. Walters.

Prather-Schwartz

The marriage of Miss Ruby Schwartz to Geo. Prather, Jr., was consummated at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at the home of Rev. R. B. Shannon. The wedding was a very quiet one, only a few friends witnessing the ceremony. The young bride and groom left immediately for Los Angeles, where they spent several days sight-seeing. They took in a trip to Mount Lowe and have now returned to Tustin. They have taken rooms at the Alby house.

ONE FRUIT OF THE COMPENSATION ACT

Laws and courts must be very useful or we would not have so many of them, but they generally work best when the parties to a possible litigation try some other means of settling it.

Before the passage of the Workmen's Compensation Law in California almost the commonest kind of civil suits were those for personal damages brought against employers by injured workmen. These suits never worked satisfactorily for any one except the lawyers. Though suits at law were almost the only method by which injured men could obtain justice, the justice they actually got was often but a remote approximation.

The Compensation Law, under which an employee is entitled to sue for damages only in cases of gross neglect or wilful misconduct, has almost eliminated these suits, and has assured employer and employee alike of a fair adjustment of damages arising from industrial accidents. It is a good law for both sides of the paymaster's desk.—San Francisco Bulletin.

AUTO TAX GOOD INVESTMENT

The saving effected to automobile owners of California by construction of the state highway is far in excess of the motor vehicle tax, according to E. B. Waterman, of Fresno, one of the pioneer automobile owners of the state. After watching the continued use of the state highway near Fresno for nearly a year and making practical tests and comparisons with unimproved roads, as well as getting information from other parts of the state where the state highway is under traffic, Mr. Waterman has tabulated the average saving in operation of a car in daily use on the paved state highway over similar use on unimproved roads.

He finds that this saving, counting in lessened cost of fuel used, greater life of tires and fewer replacements, will be at least $140 a year for the average car in daily use. This takes no account of depreciation. At a recent meeting of the California State Automobile association Mr. Waterman submitted his analysis to a number of automobile owners from different parts of the state, and they pronounced it a conservative estimate of the operating saving possible by improved highways instead of poor roads.

"O, HAVE YOU HEARD THE NEWS FROM MAINE?"

The most enthusiastic state convention in the history of Maine politics was held by the Progressives at Bangor on March 24th. Nine hundred and ninety-three delegates, representing every county and district of the entire state, were present.

Halbert P. Gardner of Patten was unanimously nominated for the governorship, and a platform making a ringing declaration of Progressive principles was adopted. Maine never saw anything like the work of the Progressives in adopting this platform. It was framed absolutely in the open, with free discussion of each plank by any delegate on the floor who chose to speak.

The Maine Progressives are selecting strong men for candidates for Congress in the four districts, and are preparing to make a campaign of the utmost vigor.

MASSACHUSETTS IS WAKING UP

It seems likely now that Massachusetts will have a constitutional convention. If Massachusetts has such a convention, the people there may expect a progressive constitution. For wherever a convention has been held during recent years the states have changed the old constitutions for better ones. Ohio leads the van. Illinois is said to be next in line. The men who are fighting for the constitution in Massachusetts are the Progressives and the Democrats. One Republican broke over the line and voted with the convention advocates and made a majority the other day in the legislature.

So it goes; little by little, an inch at a time the old "ark's" a-moving, a-moving—through the land.—V. A. W. in California Outlook.

VILLA IS COMPLETE MASTER OF TORREON

lights on the front of the custom house were turned on; the street lights were all flashed into burning and then the rebel soldiers began to discharge firearms and ring church bells. El Paso thought it another battle in Juarez and began to rush to the river, so that an extra detail of United States soldiers had to be called to keep them back out of possible danger.

REBEL FORCES ENGAGE WITH VELASCO'S FORCE

EL PASO, April 3.—Fighting between General Rosillo Hernandez's rebel force and the vanguard of General Velasco's fleeing federals from Torreon, was reported today by General Villa to General Carranza. The skirmish, Villa stated, occurred south-east of Canon Del Gaurache and several federals were killed and many were wounded. Hernandez was trying, according to the message, to engage the main column and drive it back to Torreon. How many men Velasco had is not known, but it is believed from Hernandez's reports to be much larger than was at first supposed. It is considered evident the federals are trying to get to Saltillo. With Hernandez barring the way and Contreras' division coming behind Velasco, it seems certain he will be caught between two fires.

REBEL GENERALS ALREADY OFF FOR MORE FIGHTING

JUAREZ, April 2, Generals Urbines and Herreras with their brigades are already on the way from Torreon to Monterey and Saltillo, according to a Torreon message today. It is not believed they will attack, however, until a fresh supply of ammunition reaches them.

Young men's clothes are our specialty

If you will look with some care at our illustration, you'll get a pretty good idea of the way we can dress any young man in this town. You notice that there's a smart, snappy, very dressy style about this young man; nothing "flashy" in the cut of his clothes, nothing ultra or extreme; just a well-dressed, high-toned young gentleman; young looking in his clothes as well as in his face. —You'll choose from a lot of new and beautiful fabrics; many new and imported weaves, the usual large variety of American goods. Smart new patterns and colorings

The illustration is only a suggestion of what you may expect to find here; you've got to see the clothes to know how good they are.

The Case of I Don't Remember

By M. QUAD
Copyright, 1914, by Associated Literary Press.

James Shine was sixteen years old when he started out one morning to go fishing. It was a walk of a mile to the lake, and between the village and the lake ran a railroad.

The youth ranked with the best for smartness, both mental and physical, and was in the best of health and spirits the morning he set out with his fishing tackle. What happened before he got there was told by the engineer of a freight train. One at the crossing could see the trains while they were yet forty rods away, and no accident had ever happened there.

On this occasion, as the train approached, the engineer saw young Shine kneel down on the track to tie his shoe. A whistle of warning was sounded, and, in fact, the whistle was kept going until the pilot of the engine struck the boy and threw him a full fifty feet.

Young Shine was picked up for dead, but he wasn't dead. He was nowhere near it. He hadn't a broken bone and only one big bruise. He seemed as good as ever physically in a fortnight, but there was a great change in him mentally.

You have read of a person being "knocked silly?" Well, the boy had so suffered. There wasn't a hurt on his head, but his memory was gone. He didn't know who he was, and he could not remember any one else. It was a form of aphasia with a curious feature about it. His mother would say to him:

"James, your name is James Shine."
"Yes, it is James Shine," he would reply.

Five minutes later if asked his name he would reply that it was Peter Jones or something else.

At the age of twenty James Shine got lost. He was sent to a sawmill half a mile away, and in some way he got turned around and walked out into the country. It was a year before he was heard of again. He had made his way to a point a hundred miles away and hired out to a widow as a farm hand and after a few months married her. He had given her a dozen different names as his right one.

When the widow was reproached with having married a young man only half her age and one plainly off in his head she replied:

"Well, I thought it would be a good thing to get married again, and I tell you, he is the best worker I ever had on the farm."

No effort was made to get the young man away, as he seemed quite content there, but one day he walked off without a word to any one and brought up in a town 200 miles away. He got work in a brickyard, giving still other names. One day his name was Davis, the next Barnes, the next Meadows, and so it went. Of course people wondered about it, and the police investigated him, but as he was a good worker and never made any trouble he was not interfered with.

After a few months and under the name of Bird young Shine married another widow. This one had five children, and when taken to task for her capture she replied:

"I noticed he was rather queer in the head, but I guess all men are that. Do you think a widow with five children to clothe and feed is going to turn a would be husband down just because he appears to be a bit dotty?"

The wives had a row over the one husband, and the husband moved on. He went about forty miles away and obtained work in a planing mill and in less than four months was married to his third widow. He had started in with a widow and had a preference for that class. He had lived with No. 3 about four months when Nos. 1 and 2 came down on him. He was arrested and tried as a bigamist, but before his trial had taken place he broke out of jail and made a long skip and went to work in a lively stable. Here he gave twenty different names in twenty days, and many people thought him a fugitive from justice, but as he was quiet and industrious he was not bothered.

There was only one widow in the town, but in a few months she had been sought out and courted and married. After a bit No. 4 heard about the others and had the bigamist jailed. This time he went to trial. When asked on the stand if young Shine had seemed a sensible, rational person to her she replied:

"I can't say he did."
"But you married him?"
"But I'd been trying for six long years to catch a husband and was clear discouraged."

It was the opinion of doctors who examined the husband that he was neither morally nor legally responsible for his acts. Each one of the four wives offered to take him back, but of course the law could not permit this.

The question what to do with the offender came up. A number of doctors swore that he was half a fool, and he was sent off to a state asylum. There he proposed marriage to one of the female cooks, and an escape, an elopement and a marriage might have followed had not the man been taken ill and died. On the day of his death he seemed quite rational, and in talking with the doctor he said:

"They say that I have married four different widows."

"Yes."

"And was courting a fifth."

"Yes."

"Lord bless the widows! If I could live my life over again I'd marry twenty of them before I got through!"

METZ 22 RACEABOUT DRAWS ATTENTION

The little Metz 22 Raceabout was brought down from Los Angeles yesterday by Ellis Smith of the Motor Car Co. has been attracting crowds of admirers wherever it is on the street. Many people have stopped at the garage next to the Hall to examine this car which is to be a coming favorite.

This model was received in Los Angeles last week, and the opinion many was that it is the best car, not barring any of the cycle of to appear on the market to meet demand for small cars. It is almost exact duplicate of the Mercer car. It has a left hand steering wheel, wire wheels and orange colored body. Wherever the car stops on the street there is a crowd of fifty or twenty people gathered to look over.

ENTERTAINED ALLIANCE

Mrs. George L. Wright Hostess at Delightful Afternoon Function for Women

The Women's Alliance of the Unitarian church was delightfully entertained on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. George L. Wright, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. E. T. Brannan. About forty ladies were present and greatly enjoyed the charming hospitality of their hostess in her beautiful new home on G street. The regular business of the Alliance was first attended to, followed by reading by Miss Goldsworthy from the splendid Joaquin Miller number for February of the "Out West" Magazine.

The editor, Dr. George Wharton James of Los Angeles, has indeed collected the best of the many fine thoughts breathed into living words by this great "Poet of the Sierras" and has also included messages of appreciation from his friends and his daughter Juanita to whom the poem "Columbus" and other selections revealing the inspiration of this great-souled writer were listened to with sincere appreciation and interest.

At the close of the afternoon dainty and delicious refreshments were served and all departed with pleasant memories that will linger long in heart and mind, after many expressions of good will had been extended to the friend whose generous entertainment had been so much enjoyed.

On Friday evening a recital of music will be given at the Unitarian church to which all lovers of music are cordially invited.

Excellent Meeting

The regular business meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, South, met in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Kervin presiding. After a short devotional service followed a very important business session. It was decided to hold the Conference annual meeting either the first or second week in June. The time will be definitely announced as soon as word is received from Dr. Lambuth and other interesting speakers whom it is hoped to secure. The resignation of Mrs. Wilson, the press reporter, was accepted, as she soon leaves for Kentucky to be gone several months. Mrs. Titus was elected to fill the vacancy. She will take the office on her return from Fresno. The committee reported $13.25 raised for the Co-operative Home in Los Angeles. Mrs. Hamilton reported $42.60 spent in helping families in need, 121 garments distributed and 103 visits to the sick. Mrs. Hamilton has splendid helpers with her.

Mrs. Nuckolls gave a splendid report of the work done in the Juvenile Missionary Society. There are forty-five members, including babies and juniors. They have raised $3.85 for the quarter.

It was decided to have a demonstration of aluminum ware sometime in the near future. There is something good in store for every one who comes, especially the members of the society.

It was decided that the money from the dollar tea to be held at Mrs. Kirven's home April 22nd should be used to buy dishes. This is especially important in view of the plan to entertain the Annual Conference so soon. It was decided to give the husbands and sweethearts the privilege of attending the tea and paying a dollar each towards this fund.

NEWS FROM ABROAD

Oh, fold up the morning paper—Who cares for the news of town?

But—what are the violets doing?

Has the jonquil made her gown?

Come, give me news of the flowers,

The grass, and the trees and brooks!

Personals

Mrs. C. D. Shields has gone to Los Angeles for a two days stay with friends.

Mesdames L. H. Thomas and J. W. Hildreth went to Bellflower on an early car today to spend the day with a friend.

A. G. Wells left today for Pittsburg, traveling via the Salt Lake route.

Mr. and Mrs. William Besser and their son Frank and "Grandpa" Seger left yesterday in the Besser automobile for Phoenix, Arizona, where they will spend several months, visiting members of the family and looking after property interests there.

Miss Helen Stebbins of 619 Bush street is very ill with pneumonia. Her friends are alarmed over her condition, but hope for a favorable turn to her illness.

Mrs. Belle Clemens and her daughter, Mrs. H. Woodington, spent today in Los Angeles, making the trip to the city early this morning.

Mrs. L. H. Parsons and Miss Pauline Parsons visited Los Angeles today.

Samuel Barnett, his daughter, Miss Cara, and Mrs. Dr. Hunt came over from Pasadena yesterday to visit their relatives, the Misses Cowan, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bemis and family, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Allen. Mr. Barnett is eighty-two years of age and still enjoys travelling, coming here from Akron, Ohio, to meet his sister, Mrs. Hunt, aged eighty-six. The reunion was a joyful one.

Mr. H. C. Lambert and family left yesterday for their home in San Antonio, Texas, via the Southern Pacific.

Mrs. M. L. Casey left yesterday for Denver, Colo., via the Southern Pacific.

Mr. E. W. Kelley, his wife and daughters, who have been visiting with Santa Ana friends for several months, left yesterday for their home in Alexandria, Kansas. They left via the Southern Pacific and will stop over at Omega, Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Zimmerman and child, who have been visiting friends in Orange, left yesterday for their home in El Paso. They traveled on the Southern Pacific route, via El Paso.

E. S. Gilbert of this city, and his brother, of Los Angeles, returned today from a fishing trip to the tin mines in the Trabuco canyon. They caught the limit.

Rev. D. T. Grout is up from Escondido to sign the necessary papers relative to the transfer of his former residence at 334 Halesworth street to Alfred Poulsen, a recent arrival from Paso Robles. Maury & Adams handled the deal. The Rev. Mr. Grout accepted the pastorate of the Nazarene Church on the first of the year at Escondido.

WEST END THIMBLE CLUB

Ladies of Club Entertained at A. J. Smiley Home—Day Spent Enjoyably

Mrs. A. J. Smiley very cordially welcomed the ladies of the West End Thimble Club at her pleasant home this week. She was aided in receiving the ladies by her young son, Master Dean. The house was beautifully decorated with Gold of Ophir roses, bouquets of the lovely flowers being used in every place possible. The beautiful day attracted a large attendance and the afternoon was spent most enjoyably. One of the entertaining features was a reading of a story by Miss Ethel Slocum. Later a contest game was conducted by the hostess.

Chatting over the every day happenings of life or the bigger events of the world, and plying needles busily in the daintiest of needlework, the ladies found the afternoon hours slipping by with unexpected swiftness. Before they separated, Mrs. Smiley served very delicious refreshments, being assisted in that pleasant duty by her daughters, Misses Katherine and Isabel, who are just now at home from Pomona College enjoying the spring vacation.

Odd Fellows to Banquet

On Saturday evening the members of Laurel Encampment, No. 51, I. O. O. F., will entertain the ladies of the Encampment with a banquet. The guests are asked to be on hand not later than 7 o'clock, as the Encampment will meet in regular session at 8 o'clock. The banquet will be in the nature of a fish dinner provided by the committee.

It is believed that changes contemplated will result in increased interest and attendance. Saturday evening's meeting will be the first to be held in April and it is hoped there will be a large number out that there may be a full expression as to the contemplated changes.

Creation Photo Drama Attracts

About 3000 people of Santa Ana and vicinity saw section one of the drama during the week of its presentation. The comment is that this is the finest collection of scientific, historical and Bible scenes ever given. All should re-read the story of the plagues in Egypt and the exodus, as they may behold at the College of Music the most elaborate and wonderful presentation of these scenes in moving picture ever attempted.

The "long day" of Joshua will cease to be an excuse or reason for discrediting the Bible narrative when the explanation of it is given.

Faith in the Scriptures and love and appreciation for their author is being inspired by seeing the realistic portrayal of these historical scenes.

Arrangements are now made whereby the drama of Creation is to be shown daily including Sunday, at 3 and 8 p. m., corner Third and Bush streets.

Piano Recital

Miss Virginia Johnston presented her pupils in a very successful piano recital on Thursday, at her studio, 117½ East Fourth street. The program follows:

Aid Meeting

Fifty ladies of the Aid Society of Zion's Evangelical Church met at the home of Mrs. George Huser yesterday and were happily entertained. After devotionals, a Bible study was led by Rev. George Huser.

After the usual business hour, German delicacies were served.

Wedding Anniversary

The twentieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George Faul was celebrated last evening at their home on West Third street. A number of friends gathered at the home, playing whist during the evening, and presenting the Fails with a set of solid silver knives, forks and teaspoons, a handsome hand painted cake plate and a half dozen hand-painted bread and butter plates. The presentation speech was happily made by J. P. Browne.

Men--which way is best?

Are you matching cents against satisfaction?

We feel it is worth while using this space today just to talk frankly on the subject of "Early Season Buying or Late Season Buying."

Some people agree with us, and we have built up a fine early season business.

Some people do not agree with us, and we have successful late season clearance sales.

So it works for us both ways, but still we know that the early season buyer is the most satisfied buyer, because he is not matching a few pennies saved against a lot of satisfaction lost.

You come in while the stocks are fresh and have a wide range of choice—you get just what you want—you feel better because you are wearing new clothes when you should wear them—you get full season service from them and can discard them with a feeling of contentment and not have to wear old styles next season, in order to get your money's worth.

We are all more or less proud, and it really pays to cater to that pride—it means ease of mind and that is worth while. Why be uncomfortably dressed for two or three months, waiting for pickups.

Prices at this store are always based on 100 cents worth for a dollar whether you buy late or early.

Think this over—the new Spring goods are here—we would like to have you see them whether you buy or not. Will you come in?

CLOSING NUMBER OF HIGH SCHOOL COURSE

(By Staff Correspondent.)

ORANGE, April 3.—The closing number of the high school lecture course will be presented this evening at Campbell's Opera House. Alton Packard, the noted artist and Chautauqua entertainer, is listed as the final number, and his appearance here is regarded as one of the best numbers on the entire course.

Mr. Packard's ability as an artist is well known to local audiences through his former visits here, and a large crowd is expected to see his work tonight.

The Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church held a very pleasant all-day meeting at the parlors of the church yesterday. About twenty-five were present in the morning and the number increased considerably for the afternoon.

S. G. Unland is ill at his home northwest of Orange.

Mrs. Susie McPherson, with her daughter, Mrs. Charles McMillan, and grandson, Harold McMillan, of Alhambra, arrived last evening for a visit with their numerous relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Gatlin have returned from Tucson, Arizona, where they have been spending the last five months. They are visiting relatives here before locating in San Bernardino. Mrs. Gatlin is a sister of Mrs. Elmo McPherson and P. M. Coones.

Mrs. C. O. Field is reported as being quite ill.

Mrs. Mary S. Emerson of Santa Ana, was a guest at the home of Mrs. Mary C. Jackson on South Grand street yesterday.

ONE MORE DAY WILL FINISH ON BROADWAY

By tomorrow night Broadway will be completely paved for its entire length from Santa Clara avenue to the south side of Cubbon street, making it one of the finest paved thoroughfares in Southern California.

There is a rumor to the effect that Contractor Huberman, who did the Broadway work, will pave Second street. Whether this rumor has any foundation in fact cannot be stated.

Contractor Crandall is going ahead with the work of grading Fourth street from the Santa Fe tracks to the city limits. He is evidently confident that whatever litigation there will be in the courts will result favorably to himself. A large force of men and teams is at work, plowing, scraping and hauling away the dirt. Steele Finley, attorney for Crandall, stated today that his client would not be deterred from starting paving operations and that, as soon as Fourth street is graded paving will commence.

Work on Birch street, south of First, is progressing rapidly. About two blocks of this street have been covered with the concrete base and the work of laying the asphaltum will begin shortly. Crandall's force of men is laying about one block of the concrete base each day. The entire paving work on Birch street will be finished in about a month.

It is quite likely that paving will begin on South Main and Sycamore streets in the near future. Just when work will be started cannot be stated.

BASSETT LOSES FIGHT FOR ROAD

Judge Also Gives Decision Finding Smith Not Guilty of Contempt

After long litigation Wilbur Bassett finds that he gets off about where the district attorney and board of supervisors told him he would get off. Bassett is a Los Angeles attorney, who lives at Villa Park. The ranch is in the name of his wife, Helen Bassett. A narrow road led through W. H. Peterkin's place to the Bassett domicile.

Neighborly relations did not prosper. It was brought out in the evidence that Mexican employees by one rancher were looked down upon by the other. Judge Thomas in his decision rendered today says it does not make any difference what either party thought of the Mexicans, as the only question up to him to decide was whether or not the road that runs through Peterkin's ranch is a public road.

Some months ago Bassett began importing the district attorney's office to compel Peterkin to quit plowing up a part of the road and to refrain from piling wood upon it. The district attorney declined to act, saying that he believed the road was not a county road.

Bassett then took the matter up with the supervisors, and was again told that the county considers that the road belongs to Peterkin. At least, the county had never spent a dollar on it.

Then the Villa Park rancher brought suit against Peterkin, who was represented by Attorneys Hartwick, Keech and Davis.

Judge Thomas in his ruling declares that the evidence indicates plainly that the road has always been a private road, a number of signs to that effect having been put up by owners. To adjudge the road to be a county road would be to take it without due process of law. It has been used only by the permission of Peterkin and his predecessors, and the road could be closed at any time. The Bassett ranch has another outlet to a county road.

No Contempt There
Judge Thomas today also rendered a decision in the contempt proceedings in the case of Henry Y. Schulte against F. Morris Smith. In this case not a road but storm water was the cause of trouble between these Orangeflower neighbors. Three or four years ago Schulte got an order of court to compel Smith to do away with an embankment so that water draining across Schulte's land could continue in its natural course and not be backed up over Schulte's land. Recently Attorneys Head & Marks for Schulte appeared before the court and declared that an obstruction still exists. Evidence was taken, with Attorneys Williams & Rutan appearing for Smith. Judge Thomas made two trips to the place to inspect the premises. In his decision he states that the real trouble lies in the fact that a rancher a mile and a half above Schulte moved some earth so that the drainage goes Schulte's way. There would have been no backing up of water this spring except for the unusually heavy rainfall. The judge found that Smith had not been guilty of contempt, for the changes previously ordered by the court had been made. Still, as a settlement, the judge ordered that some earth over a pipeline be removed to give quicker relief in case water comes down to the place.

A DARING PATRIOT

Feats of a Little Known Hero of Revolutionary Times.

JACK JOWETT'S BRAVE RACE.

It Saved Jefferson and the Virginia Assembly From Capture by Tarleton's Dragoons and Gave General Washington Valuable Information.

Most of the Revolutionary heroes have been immortalized in song or story, but there is one whose fame has never spread, as it should, beyond the region of his birth. His name was Jack Jowett. In the little city of Charlottesville, Va., there is a tablet on the building that stands on the site of his old tavern. But that simple bronze is the only memorial of his name and deeds.

In Revolutionary days young Jack Jowett kept the Swan tavern in Charlottesville. He was a patriot at a time when patriotism was dangerous, for Cornwallis was in possession of tide-water Virginia, and Tarleton and his cavalry were sweeping back and forth over the inland counties.

In June, 1781, the Virginia assembly abandoned Richmond, which Cornwallis threatened, and came to sit in Charlottesville. Among its members were such men as Patrick Henry, Richard Henry Lee and Benjamin Harrison, and the governor was no other than Thomas Jefferson. One bright morning when the state assembly was in session Jack mounted his thoroughbred mare and rode out to look over his farm outside the town. As he rode along he caught through the trees a glimpse of a British uniform flashing down a crossroad. He put his horse over the low stone wall and confronted the rider. It was one of Tarleton's troopers.

With a big pistol pointed at his head, the Englishman thought it wise to obey Jack's command to turn in at the gate of a nearby house and change clothing with him. Under threat of death the soldier divulged the fact that Tarleton was in the vicinity. Jowett at once galloped away in search of the enemy. The day passed without result, and Jack stopped at an inn to take a few hours' rest.

In the night he heard the tramp of horses and, looking out of his window, saw that the yard was full of British soldiers, led by Tarleton himself. The troopers entered the tavern and sat down to drink and talk, quite unconscious that an enemy was on the stair above listening to every word. From their conversation Jowett learned that Tarleton commanded an advance guard that was halting to wait for the rest of the troop. Then they planned to dash on to Charlottesville and capture the Virginia assembly.

Jack Jowett set out at once in the cool of the dawn. Once he was chased by some troopers who trotted in from the pike that crossed his path, but his bay mare soon outpaced theirs. Like the wind he raced through lanes, over low stone fences, up the side of the hill to beautiful Monticello, the home of Governor Jefferson. He warned Jefferson of the approach of the British, and then, with a fresh horse, he dashed down the steep mountain road into Charlottesville. Rushing into the hall where the assembly was in session, he called to the members to flee, for Tarleton's dragoons would soon be at their heels. In a few moments the hall was empty, and the members were on their way across the mountains to Staunton, where they would be safe from pursuit.

Jack rode on to his tavern, but found there a wounded officer of the Continental army—General Stevens. He dressed the sick man in a suit of his own clothes, carried him downstairs and put him on the fresh horse, with bags of corn in front and behind—the very picture of an old farmer going to the mill. Side by side Jowett and Stevens rode out of town, which by 10 o'clock was in the possession of Tarleton's men. Pausing as he reached the top of a hill, Jack saw his own tavern in flames.

The British, who had reason to suspect the young man in a uniform, set out in chase of him, but Jack's horse was again too speedy for them, and he got safely away to Washington with the news that Tarleton was no longer acting in support of Cornwallis—a bit of information that was of the greatest value to the commander of the Continental army.

To Jack Jowett's quick wit and daring the author of the Declaration of Independence and many another hardly less famous patriot owed their liberty and perhaps their escape from a traitor's death upon the scaffold.—Youth's Companion.

A Marshal's Retort.

It is on record that the Prince of Orange, filled with rage because he had been beaten at Fleurus, Leuze, Steinkerke and Nerwinds, alluding to the Marshal of Luxembourg:

"Can it be that I shall never beat that hunchback?"

"How does he know that I am a hunchback?" said the French marshal. "He never saw my back; I always saw his."

Misgivings.

"I want to go to my glazier's, only he gives me a pane."
"And I would like to go to my grocer's, but he'll give me a weigh."—Baltimore American.

URGES THIS COUNTY TO PLANT TREES ON ITS MAIN HIGHWAYS

Orange News: The excellent plan of planting trees along the state and county highway which is being backed by the Associated Chambers of Commerce in this county, has also been adopted in Riverside county and is being urged in San Bernardino county, as we gather from the Colton Courier, which says:

"It is announced that Riverside will undertake to adorn the new highways with ornamental trees, Colton avenue leading from the city of Riverside to Colton is to be improved from the San Bernardino county line to First street in Riverside in a uniform manner by the improvement association of property owners on the street, which is to have the co-operation of the supervisors. For the three miles between First street and the county line on the west side of the street cork oaks and black acacias are to be alternated every sixty feet, while on the parkway along the Pacific Electric tracks on the east side bright flowering shrubbery is to be set in clumps twelve feet long and every 100 feet.

"At the county line a small park will be formed and planted to palms. A gardener will be secured to care for the street and shrubbery, which are to be watered from pipes laid to the highest points on the street.

"Our own county supervisors will be asked to join in this excellent plan, especially in the small park maintained at the county line, which is certainly a good thing.

"Whether the county highway bonds are voted or not, the county authorities might well consider the matter of adorning the sides of the roads with trees. Nothing makes the country more attractive, and it is conversely true that highways devoid of trees are decidedly unattractive.

"A comprehensive plan of tree planting should be adopted for all main highways and the planting of trees should be as much the duty of those in charge of public roads as it is their upkeep. It is not a costly matter, and if the authorities would take hold of it, the co-operation of land owners could no doubt be secured and our roads made a thing of beauty. Colton avenue, towards Riverside, lies in a country the topography of which lends itself charmingly to beautification and that could be made one of the most attractive drives in Southern California. No doubt property owners would be glad to join in a program of adornment, especially if Riverside people take up the work as far as the county line."

Our own county highways should be planted without unnecessary delay or at least those roads which at present have no tree borders. Many of the roads run through groves, so that border planting is not necessary.

Elks' Hall

Miss Peet, who will be in Santa Ana Monday to personally conduct the Register's School of Methods for Housewives, believes in good old-fashioned, plain cooking. She says a wholesome dinner prepared at home, and eaten at home, rather than one purchased for the most part from the delicatessen shop or eaten at a restaurant, has the real old-time home spirit and is more thoroughly enjoyed by the whole family. Miss Peet believes in labor-saving methods and devices; she believes in new ideas in home-making and housekeeping; but she believes in the "old home" spirit. She feels that woman has no higher work to do than the making of and caring for a home, and thinks that anything science or labor or invention has to offer to make her home is worth while. She is a devotee of the home-making, housekeeping, housework DRUDGE. She says there is a wide distinction which is possible for any intelligent woman to make. She believes that real home-making and ef-

Domestic Science is Implacable Foe to High Cost of Living

icient housekeeping requires the highest type of intelligence. In her cooking school lecture-demonstrations she aims to emphasize and encourage the home-making spirit; to offer helpful and workable suggestions for easy and economical housekeeping, and to show just how the use of intelligent effort makes for efficiency in housework just as it does in business.

Is Experienced Housekeeper
Miss Peet's lecture-demonstrations grow out of a large experience as home-maker, housekeeper, cookery expert, lecturer and demonstrator. She has a close acquaintance with real housekeeping problems; she has long had an enviable reputation as an exceptionally fine cook; she has studied housekeeping economics from many sources and standpoints; she has met famous cooks and fine housekeepers of this and other nationalities and it would certainly seem that with all of this experience, study and travel, it would be difficult to find a housekeeping tangle she could not unravel.

Miss Peet has given particular attention to the food question. She has studied the chemistry of foods, food values, cost of production, and the best methods of preparation. She will suggest methods which never fail. She says it is possible for every woman to be a good cook, but that there are certain principles which must be understood and strictly adhered to. She is going to explain about bread-making, about various kinds of flours, and about yeast processes. She is going to give some definite points about temperature upon which success in baking so largely depends. She says a "hot oven" or a "mediumly hot oven" are very indefinite and unsatisfactory terms. She will show why some light bread is more nourishing than other light bread, which to the uninformed would seem to be just alike in nourishing qualities.

She will explain how to buy meat. She says the butcher soon detects whether his customer knows anything about the nutritive value of different cuts of meat, and if she does she wins his respect and incidentally gets better meat. She will show how certain cheaper cuts of meat which are, by the uninitiated considered inferior cuts, are as full of food value as more expensive cuts. She will demonstrate how this food value can be brought out by the proper method of cooking.

All of these and many equally interesting points will be brought out and elaborated by Miss Peet. She has tried to cover, as nearly as may be, all of the vital points of housekeeping in her five day lecture course; but if there are any problems confronting individual housewives, which she does not touch upon, she is glad indeed to have these presented at any time, and will render any assistance she can in straightening out particular difficulties and answering any and all questions.

Miss Peet's program for Monday will be published tomorrow.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Color, Gloss
and Thickness

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," which darkens the hair so possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.—Advertisement.

FURTHER DISCUSSION OF THE TOLLS QUESTION BY E.E. KEECH

Editor Register:—In my first paper to the above subject there was an error caused by hasty preparation, which I should first like to correct. The "grounds of objection" were not "to the repeal" but to the preferential tolls. They were grounds in favor of the repeal of such tolls.

I have received so many inquiries by those who overlooked the article, that I should like to very briefly restate the reasons for the repeal.

(1) We are honorably bound not to grant the preferential tolls by the terms of the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty with Great Britain and the action to the United States Senate in approving it in 1901. It provided:

"The canal shall be free and open to the vessels of commerce and of war of all nations on terms of entire equality, so that there shall be no discrimination against any nation or its citizens or subjects in respect to the conditions or charges of traffic, or otherwise."

Senator Bard of California moved to amend this provision by adding: "The United States reserves the right, in the regulation and management of the canal, to discriminate in respect of the charges of traffic in favor of its own citizens engaged in a coastwise trade."

This amendment was rejected by the Senate and the treaty ratified, as before stated.

(2) The second ground for the repeal, as stated by me, was:

"This nation must uphold the Monroe Doctrine and maintain its leadership of the entire western hemisphere. But the main violation of our treaty obligations by these discriminating toll charges has shaken, if not destroyed, the confidence and alienated the sympathy of every other civilized power in the world."

This latter ground is the one upon which President Wilson is urging us on Congress with all of his great power and influence.

The obnoxious discrimination, while the diplomatic exchanges and international situations are probably more open in this country than any other, yet, since such interchanges and relations involve other countries, it would be utterly improper—if not impossible—for the President of the United States to publish the proceedings in diplomatic negotiations while they are in progress. And we, therefore, are compelled to accept his assurances of their importance and bearing upon this question.

What they are we may well surmise by considering the following historical facts:

While the diplomatic service of the United States has almost always been of an untrained provincial force; under Secretaries Gresham and Hay, the frankness, fairness and largeness of view of our diplomacy was unexpectedly impressed upon the world.

Mr. Gresham, as Cleveland's Secretary of State, surprised the old world, diplomats by at once stating, frankly, plainly and definitely, the attitude of his government. And when taken at his word, he equally surprised them by strictly observing it.

John Hay, Secretary of State under Mr. McKinley, followed this excellent example, proposed the adoption of the open door and equal opportunity for all nations in their trade with China, secured a guaranty for its integrity and refused to accept as damages from the Boxer rebellion a single dollar more than the United States actually expended and its citizens lost in the uprising.

When we intervened in Cuba, the wise ones of the world shook their heads and said, "Oh, the Yankees will never quit so rich and desirable an island." But the world was again surprised. For we not only cleaned up and returned Cuba to her people, but also gave poor, old Spain twenty millions of dollars for the worthless Philippines.

The Monroe doctrine has been steadily maintained by us since 1820 and constantly enlarged in its interpretation until we assumed and exercised the right to be consulted and listened to in all international matters affecting any of the states of this continent.

Germany, in pursuit of her colonial policy, which involves robbing Great Britain of some of her rich colonial territory, or gobbling large portions of South America, has for years been spending millions on millions for the creation of a navy powerful enough to effect her purpose. She has already passed the United States in that respect, and is rapidly overhauling Britain.

Japan, deeply grateful though she be for our influence in opening her doors to modern civilization and progress, has been wounded in her pride by California's action on the school and land question and would gladly avail herself of any opportunity to establish herself as the dominant power in the Pacific.

Under such conditions our Congress has undertaken to depart from the policy of Gresham and Hay; and, as it seems—at least, to all the other nations of the world—to deliberately and flagrantly violate two of our most solemn treaties. For not only have we passed the preferential tolls in contravention of the terms of the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty, but we have also refused to submit the question to the Hague Tribunal in accordance with the Treaty of Arbitration, subsequently made and loudly heralded by us.

In this situation the Mexican crisis has arisen, and it has become necessary for us to ask the nations of the world to allow us to settle it and to allow us to represent and protect their vast interests in Mexico. Are they doing it? Will they leave us free in the future, as they have in the past, to practically dictate on this continent? Does President Wilson probably know what he is talking about when he urges that the repeal is necessary for the success of our international policy? He is in constant and intimate communication with every civilized government of the world. He is able; he is conscientious; he certainly does not lack courage, nor is he deficient in the highest ideals of American citizenship. He was not my candidate for the presidency, but I should be ashamed to do other than support him in this important matter of national honor.

Yours respectfully,
E. E. KEECH.

32 BUNGALOW PERMITS IN MARCH

Growth of City Shown by Number and Kind of Buildings Going Up

ALL SECTIONS ARE DEVELOPED EQUALLY

Fifty-Three Permits in March, With Total of $57,128, Nearly All Residences

Building permits having a total of $57,128 were issued during March. Thirty-two of the fifty-three permits were for buildings of the bungalow type and three for flat, or apartment, structures.

A number of $3000 and $4000 bungalows are in the list. Thirty-two bungalows in one month. A record for Santa Ana to be proud of. This number is a little better than the figures of about two years ago, when permits for bungalows were taken out on an average of one each day.

Santa Ana is growing, and growing fast. There can be no doubt of this. In practically every case where a bungalow is built a family of newcomers will locate. This means, of course, just so many more people to add to the population figures.

A healthy sign to be noted in Santa Ana's building operations is that residences are not being erected in any one particular section. Bungalows are being built in every part of the city. There is a great deal of building being done in the southwest section, but, as said before, other parts of the city are getting their share.

Besides bungalows, permits were taken out in March for a large number of repairs, additions and for one room or two-room dwellings. Garages are also conspicuous in last month's building operations.

From March 25 to 31 the following permits were taken out:

To Mrs. Harriet S. Coulter, with C. L. Clary contractor, five-room dwelling at 1020 West Fourth street, $1172.

To A. Berghofer, with Hossler & Miller contractors, seven-room dwelling at 850 Towner street, $2500.

To F. R. Becker, with Clifford Pickering contractor, six-room dwelling at 601 South Broadway, $1700.

To Fred Mitchell, with White & Miner contractors, repairs at 458 Hickey street, $200.

To R. B. Hoxie, with N. L. Galbraith contractor, three-room dwelling at 913 East Walnut, $250.

To R. B. Hoxie, with N. L. Galbraith contractor, three-room dwelling at 915 East Walnut, $250.

To R. B. Hoxie, with N. L. Galbraith contractor, three-room dwelling at 917 East Walnut, $250.

To R. B. Hoxie, with N. L. Galbraith contractor, three-room dwelling at 919 East Walnut, $250.

To Hugh J. Macrae, tent dwelling at 1212 F street, $80.

To J. E. Meyer, with Geo. A. Barrows contractor, frame dwelling at 429 South Broadway, $1800.

To Fred Hausner, with Adams & Thompson contractor, five-room dwelling at $1050.

To Warren Amos, with W. N. Carter, Jr., contractor, eight-room dwelling at 306 South Main, $2900.

To Mrs. Mary Morrison, with Butler & Preble contractors, five-room dwelling at 1043 West Sixth street, $1000.

To J. C. Lamb, with W. S. Decker contractor, sleeping porch at 105 South Orange, $100.

To L. Bressel, with Herman Summerfield contractor, five-room dwelling on West Sixth street, $2000.

To Mrs. Jessie Lowe, garage at 519 West Fourth street, $50.

April 2—To Ellis Smith, with R. C. McMillan contractor, seven-room dwelling at 1501 North Main street, $4000.

PENDLETON LUMBER COMPANY PUTTING IN A YARD AT ORANGE

A permit was granted Monday afternoon to the Pendleton Lumber Company of Santa Ana to open a lumber yard at Orange on West Chapman avenue between Cypress street and the Santa Fe tracks. The company has purchased the residence property of James Fullerton and the adjacent property of P. W. Ehlen, on which the yard will be established, making six lots altogether.

"We will begin to deliver lumber here the first of next week," said A. H. Pease, a representative of the company. W. V. Whitson will be our local manager and will occupy the residence to be vacated by Mr. Fullerton for the present. A spur track will be put in about two weeks. We will carry such stock as the needs of the community demand, and with our large milling facilities in Santa Ana, will be able to handle any kind of lumber business.

"We will assure the people of Orange that the business will be no detriment to the appearance of their streets, and will try to make it in every way an acceptable addition to the city's business."

DRAINAGE AT WESTMINSTER NOW PROPOSED

District May Be Formed to Take in the Gun Club Territory

Westminster people have started a movement to form a draining district in that section. A committee consisting of W. Dean Johnston, chairman, Harry Anderson, Thomas Hosack, Wells McCoy and Charles Parr, is at work on the project, and it seems probable that it will be but a short time until they will have a definite proposition to offer the section.

It is proposed that the new district take in territory west and north-west of territory drained by the Bolsa Drainage District. The north boundary may be a mile or more north of Westminster, and will include a good deal of territory now devoted to gun club interests.

The ranchers are convinced that their lands will be bettered by having better drainage. No argument on the question is advanced. All the ranchers have to do is to note the excellent results brought about in the three other drainage districts of this county, the Bolsa, Newport and Delhi districts.

BIG MONTH FOR BUILDING

Orange Permits Run Over $44,000 With Total for Year High

Orange News: Making an enormous advance in all lines of building activity, March passed into the files yesterday as one of the largest months in building permits in the city's history, and one that saw more growth to both the business and resident sections than probably ever before. The total building permits for the month were $44,200.

This was exceeded by the same month last year, but these two months—March, 1913 and March, 1914—were perhaps the biggest that Orange has experienced. In March last year the permits totaled $46,000, most of which was contained in the two high school additions, while March, 1914, had no public buildings. Last month added its usual quota of new homes—ten in all—with two new number of fees and a business block and theater.

Building permits for the first three months of 1914 total $81,500, already nearing the year's total for 1912. Should the present average continue, this year's permits should run over the $325,000 mark. It is not impossible. The March permits follow:

Mary Dale, dwelling, North	1000
L. D. Gunther, dwelling, South	1700
B. C. Thayer, dwelling, South	200
C. A. Fiene, dwelling, S. Grand	2500
George E. Hart, dwelling, North	1700
A. H. Dushin, dwelling, North	2000
C. R. McJannet, dwelling, East	1200
J. D. Moore, theater addition, North	300

FOR BARE LAND PAID $1,000 AN ACRE

Seventeen Acres in La Habra Valley Bought for $17,000 Recently

LA HABRA, April 3.—R. W. George has just purchased seventeen acres of unimproved land from the Pacific Electric Company in La Habra Valley for $17,000. It is said George will at once begin the erection of a two-story brick building which will contain several storerooms.

Another 11-acre place was sold in the east end of La Habra Valley yesterday to a newcomer from the East for $22,000. The tract is set to oranges and lemons and only a few years ago it sold at about $60 an acre.

The First Bank of La Habra has opened for business. The directors are John Leutwiler, H. E. Hart, J. C. Klupp, J. F. Condon, J. H. Walker, H. O. Price and John Leuhm. The officers being John Leuhm, president; J. C. Klupp, vice-president; J. H. Walker, cashier. Mr. Walker for a number of years was an active officer of the First National Bank of Plattsburg, Mo. The new institution has a capital stock of $25,000 and a surplus of $2500.

BOOST FOR BEACH IN LETTERS TO EAST

Huntington Beach News: We are all children in the matter of having to be told a fact over and over again before it impresses us as it should. You meet some one in the morning and that person may tell you something that does not make much of an impression on you; but if you should meet four or five persons the same day and they should all say the same thing, the chances are a thousand to one that unless the subject matter conflicts with your religion or politics that you would believe what you heard and would not forget it very soon.

For this reason, if you meet anybody who is not entirely familiar with the advantages of Huntington Beach, do not fail to tell everything you know; or if you are writing to a friend or relative never fail to let them know that you think you live in one of the most favored places in America. Do not be afraid of making this statement too often, as such statements are never made without impressing some one, and always bear fruit.

The new concrete pier, 1215 feet long, which is rapidly being completed, is one of the longest piers of cement construction ever erected in the world by any city, large or small—a strong statement, but a truthful one; and if every person residing here at the present time will make a similar statement in every letter they write to friends or relatives, they are giving their home town the best advertising imaginable, and beneficial results are sure to follow. The location here is positively ideal, there being absolutely no room for argument to the contrary that the beautiful mesa upon which Huntington Beach is located is one of the most favorable places for a beach city in all the world.

The fertile agricultural country immediately tributary to this place is another reason why Huntington Beach should and will be one of the large beach cities in the near future.

The big factory of the Holly Sugar Co., the Bolsa Tile Co., and the Pacific Coast Broom Factory furnish employment for a large number of men. The big plant of the Pacific Oilcloth and Linoleum Co. is being completed and will add materially to the pay roll of the community.

And with the big Huntington Beach Company offering free factory sites, there is every reason to believe that there will be a very large industrial district in the vicinity of the sugar factory in the near future.

APARTMENTS IN GREAT DEMAND

Many Buildings of This Type Erected in This City in Last Four Years

ECONOMY OF SPACE ENTERS INTO DESIGNS

Meyers Structure on Spurgeon and Third to Have 22 Modern Apartments

There is an ever increasing demand in Santa Ana for apartment buildings. The city is growing so rapidly and there are so many new people locating here that the builder finds the erection of apartments to be entirely profitable.

Up until about four years ago there was not an apartment in any part of the city. Since that time they have been put up rapidly. One of the first to be built was the four-flat structure built by Dr. Whitted at the corner of Chestnut and Sycamore streets. Each flat in this building consists of five rooms.

One of the next buildings of the apartment type was that erected on Broadway, and called the Kaiser apartment. These apartments were built in 1910.

Somewhat of the same design as those of Dr. Whitted are the flats built by Mrs. Bent on Ross street. These are conveniently located, not far from the business section, and are never vacant.

The apartments built by Eugene Severance on Second street were the next on the list. The Colonial, with six apartments, was one of the first to be built on South Main street. This was built in 1912.

The Wright apartments on G street and the Padgham flat building at the corner of Tenth and Bush streets have been recently erected. The latter contains four five-room flats.

In point of numbers of apartments the Meyers building, corner Spurgeon and Third streets, is the biggest structure in the city. The second and third stories of this block, which is built of reinforced concrete, will contain 22 apartments of two or three rooms each. This building is first class in every respect, equipped with all modern conveniences, and there is no doubt that, when the building is completed, every apartment will be rented without trouble.

In addition to these structures the four-flat building now being erected by Flora Loucks on South Broadway will easily rank among the most attractive in the city.

One of the most striking features of all modern apartment structures is the way in which they have been arranged to make them easy to take care of. Economy of space is another consideration that enters largely into their design. Disappearing beds, built in and combination closets, all combine to take up space which in ordinary houses would be wasted.

A great number of two-flat houses are being built in Santa Ana. In addition to these, private houses are being remodelled into apartments. The greatest demand seems to be for two, three or four room flats. Most of these double houses range in price from $2000 to $3000.

WORK BEGUN TODAY ON HANDSOME MAIN STREET RESIDENCE

Contractor R. C. McMillan this morning began the construction of a $4000 Swiss chalet bungalow for Ellis Smith at the northeast corner of Fifteenth and Main streets. This new home is to be a very fine addition to the other beautiful houses on North Main street.

The general plan of the house will have a large cobblestone balustrade extending around the front. The lines of the roof will also make it attractive. The acropolis style of bedroom, which has become so popular in and around Los Angeles, will be another feature. This is said to be the first house of this kind so far to be built in Santa Ana.

The inside of the house will be patterned after a French design. Besides this home having all of the built in features, it will have a beautiful fireplace in the living room and an artistic buffet in the dining room.

Contractor R. C. McMillan was the successful bidder for the work. Since coming to Santa Ana about three years ago Mr. McMillan has built over fifty houses including the beautiful home of Mr. Fiscus of Anaheim, and many others.

I'm Back Here to Stay in the Building Business

During the past 6 or 8 months I have been in the East and am therefore somewhat out of touch with the contracting and building business.

For the two years I was contracting in Santa Ana before going East, I contracted and built 55 houses, more than any other one builder has done in the same length of time. I have been strictly on the square with all whom I have dealt with and the people I built for are my boosters, who I am very thankful to for their kindness. I am always anxious to do your work. Let me figure with you.

SANTA ANA IS OUTSTRIPPING SISTER CITIES

Comparison With Riverside Totals Convincing Proof of Development Here

The total for building permits in Santa Ana for the first three months of 1914 is $221,533. Total building permits in Riverside for same period is $37,635.

Santa Ana's building permits for March alone make a total fifty per cent greater than the total building permits of Riverside for January, February and March. Those three months at Riverside reached a total of $37,635. Santa Ana's total for January is $132,740; for February, $31,665; for March, $57,128. The Riverside Enterprise says:

"Building activities in Riverside are on the increase. The month closing today shows the total of building values at $16,500. February's total was $11,585; January's, $9,550. It is thus seen that there has been a steady gain in activity from the first of the year."

The total for January in Santa Ana includes the permit for the four-story steel and brick building that the Spurgeon Realty Co. is building. Santa Ana is growing more rapidly than any city its size in Southern California.

BUILDING FOR BUSY SEASON

Contract Has Been Let for Fourteen-Room Apartment—Other Activities

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 3.—An increasing number of residences and apartments are being constructed at Huntington Beach in anticipation of the summer season.

John De Long has let the contract to C. T. Ingersoll for the construction of a fourteen-room apartment on the corner of Nineteenth and Magnolia. The building is to be modern in every respect.

Another apartment, and that one of the most beautiful, is being planned for the ocean front. The plans for this apartment have already been completed and the contract for its construction may be let at any time.

The first of the new buildings of the Pacific Oilcloth and Linoleum Factory, a structure 335 feet long of solid masonry, is being put under the roof. The machinery will be installed as soon as the building is ready and the actual manufacture of oilcloth is scheduled to begin in June or July.

The paved boulevard between Huntington Beach and Santa Ana which has been open to traffic for the past two weeks is now getting its final wearing surface of gravel and asphalt. Machine users say that its concrete surface is one of the finest and smoothest that has ever been laid in Southern California.

Santa Ana Merchant Goes Broke

Entire Stock Sold by Creditors for 60c on the Dollar

The Hub Clothing Store, opened about 6 months ago with a first-class stock of merchandise, consisting of Men's Suits, Pants, Hats, Caps, Shoes, Underwear and Men's Furnishing Goods, and expecting to do a good business, but as results show now it has proven a failure. The creditors demanded their money at once and the former owner could not meet the obligation; therefore, HAD TO ASSIGN THE STOCK TO THE CREDITORS.

TAKES A BUNCH OF MONEY TO RUN CIRCUS

What does a circus cost?
Well, the announcement of the Sells-Floto Circus and Buffalo Bill (himself) which is coming here April 7, display very plainly that it costs 25 cents. But that's for you to see it. It's what the circus costs itself that counts.
For instance, perhaps you didn't know that it takes nearly $5000 a day to keep the Sells-Floto-Circus Bill circus alive and going. And when you figure it out, that's a good deal of money. However, here are some of the figures:

Salaries, for instance, range from $30 to $500 a week. Capt. Dutch Richards, the "man who trains lions with a busy whip," gets enough salary in a week to keep the average working-man six months. And besides salaries, there are other expenses and many of them.

It costs a quarter of a million dollars to outfit a menagerie like that of the Sells-Floto circus. Changes are being made constantly, and whenever an animal dies, or is killed through accident, it means a loss of from $200 to $5000. The railroad equipment of the show costs more than $200,000, while the horses and their decorations cost as much more.

Then there is the cost of feeding. The animals themselves eat four or five tons of hay a day, 200 bushels of oats, 150 bushels of corn, one and one-half carcasses of beef for the carnivorous animals, and 700 pounds of vegetables for the others. Five tons of straw are needed for bedding.

For the performers themselves are needed 200 pounds of beef, 150 pounds of mutton, 100 pounds of pork, 800 loaves of bread, 72 cases of eggs, 1000 pounds of butter, 25 bushels of apples and other incidental items.

So, you see, it costs a good many dollars to bring a circus to your city. And when the Sells-Floto circus and Buffalo Bill (himself) come here it will bring all the features which make it a $5000 a day circus.

RITUAL MURDER MANIA RAMPANT IN CORSICA

PARIS, April 3.—The "ritual murder" mania has struck Corsica, according to dispatches received here from Ajaccio, the capital of that island.
Superstitious natives are attributing the disappearance of a boy named Dominique Fieschi from the neighboring town of Soccia to the Jews. For days the inhabitants have been searching the countryside for him in vain, and the belief is spreading that he was kidnapped by Jewish peddlers who have been operating in the vicinity.

GIRLS MAKING MONEY WITH WEEKLY PAPER

SHARON, Pa., April 3.—The Seneca Kicker, a new live weekly newspaper at Seneca, Pa., near here does not depend on mere man to write its news, set its type and run its press. The Kicker's issue of today, like other days it has issued thus far, had "some kick," to describe the sentiment of its force. Anna C. Kinney is editor, Anna S. Hart and Effie L. Hackathorne set the type and Lucy Williams runs the press. The girls say they are making money.

THE REASON FEWER PEOPLE TAKE "SALTS"

—We find the use of salts and other harsh physics is becoming less every year because more and more people are using Rexall Orderlies, which we and they firmly believe to be the best bowel remedy ever made. They taste so much like candy that even the children act so easily and naturally that there is no purging, griping or pain. They promptly remove the constipation and, by soothing and strengthening the bowels, make it less liable to occur again. We have the utmost faith in them. We know what they are made of and the pleasant, beneficial results that always follow their use.

You needn't take our word for it. If Rexall Orderlies don't help you—if they don't entirely relieve all your bowel troubles—come back and tell us and we'll give back your money. In vest pocket tin boxes; 10c, 25c, 50c.

ANNOUNCEMENT

—Dr. J. W. Shaul will be in his Los Angeles office forenoon; Santa Ana office, 2 to 6 p. m., and by appointment.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET
The market on onions is due for a decided tumble this morning. The first full car of Texas onions will arrive and the quotations already made on these Bermudas is from $2.40 to $2.50 per hundred. The Texas crop is of excellent quality and the onions are said to be of good size. Imperial shipments in carload quantities will begin in about two weeks. Yellow onions are practically off the market and the few of good quality obtainable are worth 5 cents a pound.

Another feature of the market is the shortage of real good strawberries which is being shipped as far east as Omaha and north to San Francisco, Portland and Seattle. Prices there are very high and only the best berries are shipped. Here the market is selling from 5 to 6 cents on fair quality. A few raspberries arrived and were well received.

A carload of rhubarb is expected this morning from San Francisco and will sell from $1.35 to $1.50 per box. Celery is hard to get in crate lots. It is selling at 50 cents for the good green top and from 75 to 85 cents for the golden top. String beans and peas are up instead of down.
There were no changes in staples on the market, although egg quotations were a trifle weak on general outside price reports.

NOSE AND HEAD STOPPED UP FROM COLD OR CATARRH, OPEN AT ONCE

My Cleansing, Healing Balm Instantly Stops Nose, Head and Throat—Stops Nasty Catarrhal Discharges. Dull Headache Goes.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."
Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone. End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.
Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.
Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.—Advertisement.

Million-Dollar Oil Notes Sold

Negotiations which have been on for some time between the two big houses of Torrance, Marshall & Company and William R. Staats Company of Los Angeles and the Union Oil Company of California for the purchase of the unissued collateral trust 6 per cent gold notes amounting to $1,000,000 of the Union Oil Company were concluded on Thursday.

It will be remembered that early in 1913 the Union Oil Company authorized the issue of $4,000,000 collateral trust notes dated May 1, 1913. Of this issue $3,000,000 were disposed of, leaving $1,000,000 in the treasury of the Union Oil Company, and it is these notes which have just been purchased. The maturities of the notes just purchased run from November 1, 1916, to May, 1918, and it is understood that the original offer which will be made later will be on a basis to yield 6 1/2 per cent. The notes are a direct obligation of the Union Oil Company of California, and are secured by a deposit—with the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank as trustee—of first lien 5 per cent bonds of the Union Oil Company; Producers' Transportation Company first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, and Union Transportation Company first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, on a basis of $1500 par value of bonds for each $1000 note outstanding.

When the fact became known on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange that the negotiations for the notes had been concluded the stock of the Union Oil Company began to soar and a jump from $70.50 asked at the close on Wednesday to $75.00, at which price 60 shares sold, was made, a gain of four and a half points in the day's trading.

Oil Production for February

Oil production in California in the month of February was 7,943,638 barrels, an average daily output of 283,700 barrels for the 28 days, as compared with an output for January, with 31 days, of 8,736,888 barrels, a daily average of 281,835 barrels.

The total shipments for the month was 7,384,406 barrels, compared with 8,239,363 barrels in January. On the first inst. the total stock of crude oil on hand was 51,180,067, as compared with 49,305,560 barrels on February 1. The production by districts, as also the statistics for wells, for the month of February, is as follows:

2. Wells drilling.
3. Wells completed during month.
4. Wells abandoned during month.
5. Wells producing.
6. Production for month.

The number of producing wells in the State January 31 was 5915 and this number was decreased in February 128; the number of producers February 28 was 5787. The total number of producing wells in the United States January 31 was 62,696 and the number on February 28 had increased to 73,190.

Banks Aid Farmer

When the California State Bankers' Association meets in Oakland in May of this year one of the subjects that will be given considerable attention will be that of the agricultural educational movement, by which bankers may aid in placing agricultural pursuits on a more scientific plane in the dissemination of information of value to farmers and supplementing the work of the agricultural experiment stations in the State and that of the State University. The move was started two years ago when the State Association convened in Long Beach. Other State banking associations have taken up the matter and in several of them, Michigan in particular, the banks in many of the cities and larger towns, as also in the small ones, have agricultural and horticultural exhibits in their banking rooms and pay premiums for the best products shown. In that California crops are wonderfully diversified and also the fact that homeseekers from all over the United States come here seeking new homes, exhibits like these cited would greatly aid in adding to the population and development of the State.

To Build New Railroad

Asking authority from the Arizona State Corporation Commission to issue $20,000 a mile each of stock and bonds for a distance of 120 miles, the Tucson, Phoenix and Tidewater Railroad, a newly incorporated railroad company of Arizona, proposes to build the first link of the line to Los Angeles. Behind the railway are the millions of James S. Douglas, and associated with him in the incorporation are W. C. Foster, a Phoenix banker; George A. Olney, a Phoenix capitalist; E. W. Wells, president of the Bank of Arizona at Prescott, and J. J. Hawkins, a Prescott attorney.

Where Gold Goes

"The German Reichsbank," writes the London Statist, "in the course of last year, added over £19,750,000 to its gold reserve. The Imperial Bank of Russia added £13,696,000 to its holdings. The Bank of France did nearly as well, having augmented its gold reserve by nearly £13,250,000. The Bank of England increased its gold holding by considerably more than seven millions. In other words, of the production for the year of about £98,000,000, these four great institutions between them took over £53,750,000, or 54.8 per cent."

Earnings Sears-Roebuck Company

The gross sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co. for January were $8,953,931, an increase over the preceding month of $537,456, or 6.39 per cent. For two months the sales were $15,696,503, an increase of $1,137,148, or 7.31 per cent.

Awarded Big Contract

The Craig shipyards at Long Beach has been awarded a contract to build two submarines for the United States, each one to cost $500,000. The keels for the vessels will be laid next week.

Great Increase in Exports

The export trade of the United States during the past ten years from 1903 to 1913 increased by approximately $1,000,000,000, whereas in the preceding thirty years, 1873 to 1903, it increased only $917,000,000, according to the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. Comparing the 1913 figures with those ten years earlier, it is shown that raw cotton maintained its leading position in the list of exports, having gained $196,000,000, or 52 per cent, while breadstuffs fell from second position in 1903 to third in 1913, and meat and dairy products from third to fourth place, these groups having been passed by iron and steel, which gained $195,000,000, or about 200 per cent, machinery and engines being the largest factors. Mineral oils advanced $76,000,000, which was more than 100 per cent; copper manufactures, $101,000,000, or 200 per cent, and wool and manufactures thereof, $52,000,000, or about 90 per cent.

Breadstuffs barely held their own in value in exports during the decade, with a gain of $3,000,000, and but for the marked advance in barley, oats and rice would have actually declined, since the exports of corn fell from 95,000,000 to 47,000,000 bushels, and those of wheat from 160,000,000 to 155,000,000.

Rubber Trust Alleged

Alleging that six rubber companies, two incorporated under the laws of New York and four under the laws of Ohio, have combined and conspired together to monopolize the rubber trade and that as a result its business has been damaged to the extent of $150,000, the Automobile Co-operative Association of America, a New York corporation, has filed suit in the United States Court at Cleveland, Ohio, for the recovery of three-fold damages, or $450,000, as provided for in section 7 of the Sherman anti-trust act. The defendants named in the petition are the B. F. Goodrich Company of Akron, Ohio, and New York; the Diamond Rubber Company of Akron, the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company of Akron, the Republic Rubber Company of Youngstown, Ohio, and the United States Tire Company of New York.

Size and Force of Eastern Banks

The National City Bank of New York, the largest banking institution in that city, has 78,600 square feet of floor space and a staff of 477 men. The Guaranty Trust has six large floors and 370 men and the National Bank of Commerce three large floors and 300 men.

The Continental & Commercial National Bank of Chicago and the First National Bank of that city have considerably larger office forces—$55 and 630.

The Old Colony Trust Company of Boston has 59,000 odd feet of floor space and 430 men, while the National Shawmut Bank has almost exactly the same number of men as the National Bank of Commerce in New York.

The Quaker City boasts of several banks with staffs of 100 men, while the Fourth Street National, as shown, has 165.

Manager for City

City Engineer Paul E. Kressly of Inglewood, and who has made a specialty of municipal engineering, has been made manager of the city under the provisions of an ordinance recently passed by the City Trustees. His position is the only one of its kind in California. He will have direct supervision of the departments of engineering, streets, building, plumbing, electrical, fire, police, health, recorder, playgrounds and parks; attend all meetings of the Board of Trustees and recommends ordinances as he deems wise. He has full power to employ and dismiss employees. No debt can be incurred until he has signed a requisition.

To Talk Across Sea

According to Signor Marconi, the day is not far off when the human voice will cross the Atlantic by wireless telephone. He has succeeded in communicating with ships at sea forty-three miles apart. The inventor of wireless telegraphy declares that "unlike radio-telegraphy, wireless telephonic communication, instead of diminishing in effect, becomes clearer with increased distance, hence if sufficient energy is used radio-telephonic communication is quite possible at the longest distance."

Irrigation Conference

An irrigation conference has been called by Secretary of the Interior Lane to convene in Denver, April 9. The chief object of the conference is to devise a basis for Federal and State co-operation that will put irrigation development in the West on a business footing, which in turn would attract funds from money centers to carry through these projects and eventually bring settlers to the lands reclaimed. Governors of the Western States will be present.

Promoting Home-Made Goods

To promote the sale of California-made products the Southern California Manufacturers' League has been formed, fifty leading manufacturers being present at the meeting to organize. These officers were chosen: President, O. H. Morgan; vice-president, A. C. Brode; treasurer, W. T. Bishop; secretary, Neal P. Olsen.

L. A. Municipal Railroad

The Los Angeles municipal railroad which runs from Ninth to Aliso street on San Pedro street, which cost $249,000 and which was constructed by the Pacific Electric Company, has been formally accepted by the city.

Taxing Oil Lands

Oil and gas leases in Oklahoma, estimated to be worth from $200,000,000 to $500,000,000, were rendered subject to assessment and taxation by the decision of the State Supreme Court, upholding the State Board of Equalization.

Consumption of Sugar

During the twenty-five-year period, 1881-1910, the average annual consumption of sugar in the United States increased from 46 to 78 pounds per capita. In 1912 the total consumption was 7,900,000,000 pounds.

Little Talks On Babyology

BY ANNA STEESE RICHARDSON

Director of the Better Babies Bureau of the Woman's Home Companion

(Copyright, 1913, by the Woman's Home Companion.)

WHAT EVERY MOTHER SHOULD KNOW

There are certain things which every mother should know about her baby.

Most importantly she should know whether it is gaining daily in strength, both physical and mental. The scales and the tape line will tell the story of Baby's physical development. He should be weighed once a week, and measured once a month till a year old.

The best scales are those known as the grocer's platform scales, weighing up to twenty-five pounds. The bar must be divided into ounces, and on the platform there should be one of the wicker weighing baskets which can be bought at any department or drug store. Either dial or spring scales are inaccurate, as Baby's every movement affects the spring. The ordinary steel tape-line purchasable at any hardware store for twenty-five cents is better than a linen tape-line. The baby should be weighed when stripped and before feeding.

At birth the average baby weighs seven pounds. The first few days after birth, he loses a little. Then if he is normal and healthy he begins to gain in weight as well as grow. Until he is six months old his average gain in weight should be six ounces a week. At six months his weight should be at least twice what it was at birth. He should then take on about two and a half or three ounces a week until he is a year old. After that his average gain is five pounds a year.

The following table of weight and measurements, taken from the Better Babies Standard score-card, will show the growth of a healthy child:

Table of Standards
Age in months	Weight lbs.	Height in.	Circumference of head in.	Circumference of chest in.	Circumference of abdomen in.
1	8	21½	15	13½	13½
2	10½	23½
3	12	24
4	14	24½
5	14½	25½
6	17	27	17½	17½	17½
9	19	28	18	18	18
12	20	29	18½	18½	18½
15	21	30	18½	18½	18½
18	21	31	18½	18½	18½
21	25	32	19	19	19
24	27	33½	19	19	19½
30	29	35	19½	19½	19½
36	32	36½	20	21	20

Very important are the proportions between circumference of head, chest and abdomen. When they do not correspond with the measurements on this standard table, there is a reason, and the mother should seek till she finds it.

For an example, at twelve months, when baby is cutting many teeth the head, chest and abdomen should be uniform in circumference. A head two inches larger is out of proportion and usually means trouble for the baby in teething, convulsions, intense nervousness or brain disorder. Such a child must be carefully watched and screened from shock of any sort. At twenty months, the chest should be gaining on the head, and at no time should baby's abdomen be larger than his chest. If it is, his diet needs changing. He is being fed too often or too heavily, or there is gas on the stomach.

There are times, of course, when Repeats two figures, "6-4, 7-3," enumerates objects seen in pictures, and knows the names of the various members of the family.

The mother should be absolutely certain that her baby's sight and hearing are good. If she has reason to suspect that his vision is imperfect or his hearing defective, she should consult a specialist at once. It is not natural for a baby to suffer with ear-ache. Do not use laudanum to relieve ear-ache. Have your doctor learn the cause of the pain and remove it.

A mother should know that her baby breathes properly. The baby who suffers chronically from "snuffles" needs attention. If he does not receive medical care, he may develop a case of chronic catarrh. The baby that breathes with its mouth open habitually is generally found to have adenoids. A grape-like formation of tissue which grows back of the palate in the passage leading from the nose to the throat. The air must pass through this passage when the mouth is closed. If the passageway is filled with the adenoid growth, there can be no breathing through the nose, and the mouth remains open, waking or sleeping.

Among the evils which spring from adenoids are deafness, a deformed jaw, restlessness, general debility, loss of appetite, defective speech, persistent colds and arrested mental development. Frequently children pronounced defective in the public schools are found to be suffering with moved, the child slowly but surely makes progress in his studies.

The mother who finds her baby breathing through the mouth should have his throat examined immediately. Even the small, nursing baby that seems to choke and sputter when nursing may be suffering from this dangerous growth. The only cure for adenoids is their complete removal. This can be done at any time after the baby passes its third month.

Next to adenoids, as a menace to the baby's health come enlarged tonsils. We all know how certain children are subject to sore throats with high temperature, followed by extreme lassitude and debility. This is tonsillitis, caused by enlarged tonsils. These can be operated on without any danger to the small patient, with little pain and at comparatively small cost. Enlarged tonsils form a fine lodging place for germs, especially those of diphtheria.

A mother should know why her baby cries. In the very young baby, as I have said before, a little crying is good exercise, but it must be known as what is healthy crying, such as the crying for food or attention, which never indicates real pain. This is baby's way of demanding notice. If an ordinarily contented baby, presumably comfortable, dry and well-fed, persists in crying, the mother should investigate. Among small causes of discomfort may be mentioned an open safety-pin, an overnight belly-band, folds in those instruments of torture, the muslin bands of skirts fastened by safety-pins, an arm twisted under the body, sun shining into the eyes, flies or mosquitos and wet diapers. Make a baby absolutely comfortable in clothing and position, and he will not cry long. If he does not quiet down soon, or if he has paroxysms of crying, have a physician look him over.

Dr. Roger Dennett in his excellent hand-book for mothers, "The Healthy Baby," thus analyzes the baby's cry which needs attention: "There is the hoarse cry of the child who has cried a great deal, or the throaty cry of the child suffering from some throat affection. There is the low moaning cry of the sick child, which breaks your heart to hear. There is even the 'cephalic cry' of meningitis and other brain conditions, and the wild night cry with which the child with bone tuberculosis starts out of his sleep."

Thus you see that certain cries are actual symptoms of disease, not to be trifled with.

In this connection, one of the most efficient organizations for reducing infant mortality has compiled the following suggestions to mothers on this very important subject. It is reprinted here from "Hints to Mothers," issued by the Better Babies Bureau, which will be sent to any mother wishing a copy on receipt of a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

If Your Baby Cries, Learn the Reason

The baby is cross because:
His food is not right.
He is fed too often.
He is fed too much.
He gets ice cream or candy.
He is fed or taken up whenever he cries.

He is dressed too warm.
He is dressed improperly.
He needs a bath.
His bowels do not move properly.
He is wet.
He is kept up too late.
He sleeps in a hot room with windows shut.

He is carried, rocked or bounced.
He is taken to the "movies."
He is given a pacifier, soothing syrup or cathartics.

The baby is happy because:
He is fed regularly.
He is fed properly.
He is dressed properly.
He is bathed every day.
He is kept dry and clean.
He has plenty of sleep.
He has fresh air all the time.
He is left alone.
He gets no patent medicines.
There are no flies on him.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly back-ache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease. Advertisement.

SHOEMAKER INVENTS FIREPROOF COSTUME

HIBBING, Minn., April 3.—Martin Panian, shoemaker and inventor of a fireproof suit and helmet, was today considering accepting an offer from a moving picture concern to give a demonstration of his invention which has been successfully tried out a number of times. If Panian accepts the offer of the moving picture company, he will wear his outfit into a real blaze and probably will be made the hero of a thriller woven around his invention. The suit is for the use of firemen carrying the nozzle of a fire hose. The suit and helmet are lined with two layers of asbestos and canvas, between which water is circulated by means of a tube which connects with the nozzle of the hose. The outlets for the water are at the hands. Another tube connected with the nozzle operates a fan which circulates air through the helmet.

Citrus Land Close to Town $185 an acre, Easy Terms --Views of the valley all week

We have for sale some 6500 acres that lies all around the town of Escondido. All tracts have beautiful building sites, deep granite soil and easy to work. A town of 2500 people, San Diego county, nice churches, stores, four banks, fine high school, Mutual Water Co., on the Santa Fe Railroad, 67 carloads of citrus fruits have been shipped this season. Over 50,000 young trees have been set out in the valley and the company has several thousand apple trees in the nursery for 1915 planting. The prize vineyard of the United States is at Escondido. This vineyard took three gold medals at three world's fairs, and has never been watered, and produces from eight to fourteen tons to the acre, of delicious Muscatel grapes. We have planted and sold over 1000 acres.

We are showing every evening at the Rossmore Hotel moving pictures of the valley. Come and spend an evening and see for yourself what a beautiful valley we have. It's free and so is our beautiful illustrated booklet. We will be here all week and if you can't get down to the hotel in the evening, call up and we will run out to your ranch or home and bring our pictures.

ARRANGE TO GO UP WITH US BY AUTO AT END OF WEEK.

Compare This Planted Price With Any Raw Land Around Here

Our three-year planting proposition includes choice of land, trees, water stock, water rentals, no taxes, no interest. All concrete and steel casings; pruning, cultivating and care. Nice roads.

For term of three years. Every tree guaranteed to be alive and healthy at end of that term.
